THE TIME IS SHORT.

But Two Weeks Are Given Mrs. Maybrick to Prepare for Death.

THE DAY OF EXECUTION NAMED.

Minister Lincoln Takes an Active Interest in Her Behalf.

BOULANGER'S TRIAL ENDS UP IN A ROW.

The Emperor of Austria is Visiting the Young Monard of Germany.

The execution of Mrs. Maybrick has been fixed for Monday, August 26. In the meantime every effort is being made to secure a pardon or a reprieve. The Queen herself is examining into the matter. LONDON, August 12 .- But little time for appeal or repentance is to be given the woawakened the interest of the civilized world. Monday, August 26, has been fixed upon as the day for the execution of Mrs. Florence Maybrick. Mr. Lincoln, the United States Minister, and many members of the Ameri can colony in London have signed a petition for the reprieve of Mrs. Maybrick.

The Oncen is taking considerable interest in the case. This information comes states in a private conversation that Her Majesty has expressed a desire that the printed reports of the trial, together with all matters bearing upon the previous through a clerk in the Home Office, who all matters bearing upon the previous his-tory of the condemned woman, be forwarded to Osborne without delay.

AN UNPRECEDENTED REQUEST.

This request is unprecedented, and al-though, according to precedent, Her Majes-ty cannot move in the case except upon the recommendation and advice of the Home Secretary, it is nevertheless taken as an in-dication of the fact that she is desirous of becoming acquainted with the details of the case in all their bearings. It is now generally admitted, however, that Sir Charles Russell made a grievous error when Charles Russell made a grievous error when he allowed his unfortunate client to read her statement to the jury. While the presump-tion of her intimacy with Brierly was strong, there was no direct evidence of it belore the court until she admitted it in her own defense and claimed that she had received forgiveness from her husband the day

It is well known that the Queen has very strong and pronounced convictions on this subject, and the probabilities are that what-ever sympathy might have come to the aid of the prisoner in court circles will be alien-ated as the result of her own statement. A Liverpool dispatch says that Justice Stephens is preparing a long letter to the Home Office, reviewing the evidence from beginning to end and insisting that upon the facts presented the jury would have been false to their oaths had they returned a different varieties.

THE JURY UNANIMOUS.

Mr. R. G. Brook, one of the Maybrick jurors, was interviewed to-day, and he talked most freely. It may horrify Ameri-cans to find that murder juries are permitted to read newspapers containing reports of a case, but so it is. Mr. Brook said that of a case, but so it is. Mr. Brook said that the jury was composed of 12 men of average intelligence, who could come to no other conclusion. They were unanimous on the verdict. Mr. Brook, when asked if the jurors were allowed to read the papers, said: "Oh, yes! We had the morning and evening papers supplied to us regularly, with full reports of the Maybrick case. We cut out the reports and marked the important passages. ports and marked the important passages. We discussed the evidence, as it was given, until we were all unanimous." "How did Sir Charles' speech effect the jury?"

"Very little." "Yery little."
"So that when you retired you had very few points to settle among yourselves?"
"Practically none. We were unanimous. The foreman almost wished that there was something upon which we could acquit her. He told us if there was the slightest

BOULANGER ON TRIAL.

His Friends Refuse to Sit Any Longer With the Senate Court.

PARIS, August 12 .- A letter written by Colonel Chevroton, Chief of Staff of the Thirteenth Army Corps, which was published to-day, states that he saw General Boulanger at Clermont-Ferrand the day it is alleged he visited Paris in disguise. The Senate Court to-day resolved itself into a legislative chamber, and, on the advice of M. Devillere, raised the question of the court's competency to try General Boulanger. The President of the Senate will request the members to pledge themselves to secreey regarding the proceedings.

The members of the Right refused to give a pledge of secreey on the ground that as the indictment had been widely published they had the right to publicly express their opinions on the case. The Right moved that the court was incompetent to try General Boulanger, because the allegations in the indictment did not constitute treason. The motion was rejected by a vote of 212 to 51. The Right afterward met and decided to take no future part in the proceedings.

THE EGYPTIAN POLICY.

Lord Sallsbury Says the Government Will

Paraue Its Present Plans. LONDON, August 12 .- In the House of Lords to-day Lord Salisbury, in reply to a question by the Earl of Carnarvon, stated that the Government's policy in Egypt would not be altered a hair's breadth. The country, he said, had improved under En-glish administration. It would be impossi-ble to fix the limit of the stay of English troops there. The Government had entered into obligations which it must fulfill.

Atlanta Negroes Still Talking of an Effgy Burning Party-No Argument Able to Change Their

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.]

ATLANTA, GA., August 12.-The negroe Atlanta are still talking of the burning effigy of Colonel Buck and General Lewis, the postmaster, who appointed a negro to a position in the registry depart-ment, and the more they consider the mat-ter the more inflamed they seem to be. The Defiance, the organ of the negroes in Atlanta, is doing a great deal to excite the darkies concerning the burning, and it is very much feared that there will yet be serious trouble over the matter.

Yesterday a policeman, in trying to arrest a negro who was beating his wife, shot in self-defense, so he says, and killed him instantly, and before he could get aid from police headquarters a mob of negroes had gathered around him, and violence would have been used, but just as the excitement was at its height 10 cops, sent from headquarters on horsebsck, came to the rescue.

This murder has been much talked of, and the negroes are madder than ever, and and the negroes are madder than ever, and the Evening Journal says that crowds of negroes have been gathered on Decatur street all day, and the leaders of these negroes say that an indignation meeting will be held to-morrow night, and that Miss Lyon and Mr. Lyon, the young lady, and her father who left the registry department because a negro was appointed to work with them, will be burned in effigy.

The Journal says: "The people of Atlanta are not in a frame of mind to stand such things as it is rumored the colored such things as it is rumored the colored people contemplate, and the city is fuller of negroes to-night than it has been in years, and trouble is anticipated. The Atlanta Rifles, a white military company, have been ordered to their armory to-night, and instructed to have on hand 800 rounds of ammunition. The scenes on the streets of Atlanta to-night have perhaps not been ex-celled since the war."

Matter Profitable. The mystery surrounding the status of the Library Hall Company and the Young Men's Mercantile Library and Mechanics' Institute is about as densely shrouded as ever. It was thought Miss Macrum, the librarian, might be able to "knit the raveled sleeve of care" so as to make the situation understandable, but she says she cannot.

Miss Macrum stated that she was glad to see the library brought into prominence by discussion, and instanced the cases of severa discussion, and instanced the cases of several self-made men who now largely control this city, both in a business way and socially, who owe their success largely to self-help assisted by the Young Men's Mercantile Library. She thought the attention of the public, being focused on the subject, might have the effect to stimulate renewed interest in the Carnegie library project; but she could not be smoked out on the question as to any relations hinted at between the Hall Company and Y. LAWRENCE, MASS., August 12.—There was a tragic ending of a dissipated life at the police station to-night. A father was arrested on the charge of murdering his infant boy, and while the doctors were per-forming the autopsy on the child's body, the father hung himself in his cell.

Harry Sullivan was the prisoner's name, and the crime with which he was charged was fiendish in its brutality. The child was born two weeks ago. Sullivan had been on a protracted spree, and there was no money to provide for the family. He refused to work, and the mother was forced to go out washing in less than a week after the birth of the child.

Last Thursday Sullivan was left alone with the child all day, and when the mother returned at night the little one's body was terribly burned. The baby lived until yes-terday afternoon. Then Mrs. Sullivan stated to a friend that her husband was di-

RESPONSIBLE FOR ITS DEATH. and she further stated that the father had scalded or burned his little one with the intention of putting it forever out of the way.

The story spread throughout the neighborhood, and by this morning every woman near the Sullivan house had it upon her lips. At noon to-day, just before the funeral, Marshal Brown and a patrolman went to Sullivan's house and forbade the services until the cause of and forbade the services until the cause of the child's death had been ascertained. The body was black and was covered with blisters, the skin in places being torn off.

Sullivan stoutly maintained his innoceuce. He asserted that there had been no acid in the house, and as there had been no fire for three weeks, it was impossible that the child could have been burned or scalded. He made that statement to the medical examiner, and while the latter went to the room in which the child lay, Sullivan from strips of his clothing and hanged himself to the ventilator in his cell. He had not been hanging ten minutes when discovered, but life was extinct.

Just as the police were about to carry the body to the undertaker's wagon, Mrs. Sullivan entered the station and asked to see her husband. Keeper Auckman told her of his rash deed. For a moment the woman stood transfixed, and said slowly, but deliberately: "I don't care." Then, as the officers carried the body out, she wept bitterly and broke down entirely. "When will my trouble cease? Will they ever stop? she cried aloud, as the body of her husband was carried by.

The suicide's body was placed side by side in the wagon with that of his child, and both were carried to the city undertaker's. The police believe now more firmly than ever that Sullivan caused the child's death, and in view of the suicide, the theory is a and in view of the suicide, the theory is a

Being Pressed for a Bear Story, Sunse Cax Tells One of His Own. PERCEAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH !

WASHINGTON, August 12.-Surrounded by a group of correspondents to-day, Hon. S. S. Cox was overwhelmed with complaints that he had not brought with him from the Western wilds a good fish or bear story. He that he had not brought with him from the Western wilds a good fish or bear story. He evidently expected the onslaught, for without winking he got off the following:

When Mrs. Cox and I were at an inn or stopping place for visitors in the park, they told us of a big hear that came down every evening, just before sunset, to cat the swill that was thrown out to the hogs. The hog pen was about a mile back of the house in the wood, and this hear would come down every day to eat the swill, and would go away content without cating any of the hogs or little pigs. As he did not leave much food for them, perhaps they never got fat enough for his tasts. While we were at dinner they told us that the girl who was waiting on the table had met the hear in the path near the pen. She was carrying a basket of clothes from wash. She had the clothes on her head. She said she was not afraid, but she dropped the clothes and ran.

Mrs. Cox and I had a suspicion that they were fooling us, but if there was a hear we wanted to see it. "What time does it come down?" I asked. "About 8 o'clock," they replied. The sun doesn't go down until after 9 o'clock. So my wrife and I went out by the hog pen to see the bear. Sure enough we met him in the woods, a great, big fellow. He gave a side glance at us and shuffled off as if he were about to run away. We were about 20 'yards from him, and quickened our pace to advance on him. He suddenly changed his mind about running, and we changed our minds also. He turned toward us and growled. I remarked to Mrs. Cox that as she was getting fat and could not walk as fast as formerly it would be just as well if she'd turn back toward the hotel. Then I modestly followed. She could walk faster than I thought she could.

SCIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCE. NEW YORK, August 12.- Everybody is delighted on the new cruiser Atlanta, and when the Navy Department receives the re-port of Captain John A. For the first time since the repairs were made to the chip circles and the gunport sills, the two eight-inch guns, the pairs were made to the chip circles and the gunport sills, the two eight-inch guns, the six six-inch guns, the two six-pounders, the two three-pounders, and the two one-pounders, Hotchkiss' rapid firing guns, the two 37-millimeters, and the two 37-millimeters, and the two 37-millimeters, and the two 37-millimeters are in exactly the same condition they were before the rigid test.

The vessel was anchored about seven miles off shore, between Montauk Point and Gardner's Island. The target used consisted of canvas fastened on a framework and anchored 1,000 yards from the vessel. Each gun was fired six times. The 8-inch guns had charges of 91 pounds of Dupont brown wind powder, and threw a shell of 250 pounds. This powder consists of hexagonal prismatic grains, one inch in dismeter and ¾ of an inch in thickness. The axis of the prism is bored out, so that a hole ¼ of an inch in diameter is made in the center. The grains weigh a little more than an ounce each. The charge for the 6-inch guns was 36 pounds of the same powder, throwing a shell weighing 100 pounds. The target was entirely destroyed twice, and finally a barrel with a flag in the top had to be utilized as a target. There was not a single hitch in the manipulation of the guns, nor was there a bolt or rivet started, nor a splinter made.

MRS. DR. CROSSLEY.

Little Maggie Hayden, only 5 years old, who lives on Webster avenue, corner Kirkpatrick street, became so badly affected with catarrh as to greatly alarm her parents and friends. She had a stuffed up condition in her head and throat so that at times it was difficult for her to breathe. She was restless nights, and the dry, rasping cough was very severe. She had a hollow look in her eyes and emaciated appearance, and she seemed to have a cold all the time. Her parents took her to the Catarrh and Dyspepsia Institute, at 323 Penn avenue, and after consulting with Mrs. Dr. Crossley and her associate physicians, she began treatment and became entirely cured in two months. Her father says:

Catarrh is a disease that affects children as well as adults, and often at a very early age. It is the direct cause of most of the consumption of this climate, and not infrequently the disease develops into consumption with children under 10 years of age. The four physicians associated with the Catarrh and Dyspepsia Institute have for years made a special study of catarrh and dyspepsia and diseases of women. ADVICE FOR ALL.

Sad and sorrowfully glance into the future many sick persons who suffer pain and who find an early grave through mistaken treatment. Do not forget that the proofs are here that my celebrated all-German remedies cannot be excelled. Thousands of patients have I met who said: "I was not a day without medicine and grew worse every day." They are correct. Where dangerous operations have been previously undertaken my remedy has cured in a short time. My remedies cure, in fact, most of the chronic diseases where no other medicine gives help. Daily sick persons come to me and complain that they have spent $50, $100, $1,000 among doctors, but were not 5 cents' worth better. When these doctors had received the money they left the city by moonlight. Thousands in Pittsburg and vicinity have been cured within a year by my wonderful remedies. Look at the following, a few of those who were cured in as many weeks as they were years sick. Mr. Wagner, chronic rheumatism, 2 years. Mrs. Emmier, eye try, eyears.

Mrs. Emmier, eye try to ble, nearly blind, 30 years.

Mrs. L. Mahone suffered 8 years with spinal discase, nervousness and liver trouble, leading to dropsy.

Mrs. Dickson, asthma, 10 years. ADVICE FOR ALL.

MEN'S FLANNEL AND SILK SHIRTS

The popularity of our Flannel Shirts is simply immense, and we be-lieve we have sold more of them this summer than any three firms in this city combined. During this week, however, we propose to break all records and sell more Flannel Shirts than during any previous week. How will we do it? Simply by naming prices so low as will tempt the

Is No Fairy Tale, But a Downright Fact. It is in this one, but all important particular that it differs from the so-called sacrifice sales announced by certain houses at present. Those who doubt the genuineness of our reductions are most earnestly and sincerely requested to call and be convinced. We want all persons to set themselves right in this matter, for the result will certainly bear out our statement. The attention of gentlemen wishing to buy clothing is called to our
